CRAIGANTLER AND DISTRICT

Capt. Grant had a wire from his son Johnnie and one from Scotty (Jim Ramage) wishing everyone a Happy New Year. Both boys are in the Heavy New Year. Both like the Old Country fine.

Jack Sheets was home on two weeks leave from Red Deer.

Roy Sheets is still in Ottawa. It looks like he is stationary.

With the announcement of the death of the Duke of Connaught brings back to mind the fall of 1912 when the Duke was Governor General of Canada he appeared at the Calgary stampede and then came to Gleichen to open the Southern Alberta dam. The old soldiers with Roy Scotty formed a guard of honor for him here. These included in the guard were Sgt. Major Coats ditcher at Ottawa, the village Sgt. Orr Gleichen headquarters, Capt. Grant of Craigantler, Jack Roberts and Jack Marshall of Gleichen and others perhaps.

A trifle late but a Happy New Year to all. We have more reason to be happy than people in some countries.

On Dec. 31st we moved from Nanaimo to Ucluelet. That is on the far west coast of Vancouver island half way up. It is just a small fishing village and the most important is Port Alberni. Fishing, lumbering and mining are the industries. The coast of the island is a formidable barrier of chocolate colored rock which the white Pacific has battered since the beginning of time as it rolls in from the other side of the world, breaking high over the ones near the surface and booming in through long narrow draws, like a bunch of horses through a corral gate.

The people who have been raised by the sea all this may be commonplace but to me who only spent odd days by the Atlantic when overseas, it has as much kick as a first trip to Circum. There are people here who arrived 40 or 50 years ago. I visited an old gentleman who lived here 40 years ago. He emigrated from Scotland in 1897. Born in the north he worked as a gardener on an estate at home.

On coming to Canada he worked on grain abed construction at Fort William but soon got back to his hobby—the growing of plants and trees. He worked in Winnipeg in greenhouses and later at Victoria, B.C. He then moved to ranch at Port Alberni but soon gave up, came here where he started in with an axe to carve himself a nursery from the thick forest. His name is Fraser and he is well known to botanists in Canada as he has many valuable shrubs, etc., which he has shipped to customers all over the country. Mr. Fraser is a bachelor

WINNING OVERBOARD THE EUROPEA FLOAT

The chief improvement on the system of mine sweeping followed in the last year is the Europa float which enables each ship to undertake the operation separately. Since the occupation by Germany of Northern France almost every estuary and fairway even as far away as the Clyde estuary has been mined by night. The strain on British mine-sweepers has thus become tremendous. Here sailors are seen getting down to business at the beginning of a sweep.

MR. AND MRS. LESTER ENTERTAINED AT SILVER WEDDING

A number of friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lester, on Friday evening last, in honor of their silver wedding anniversary.

An enjoyable bridge game resulted in top prizes for Mrs. Webb and Mr. Nelson with consolation prizes for Mrs. Woods and Mr. B. Robinson. The score was Mrs. Nelson's a very close second Mr. B. Reid was also rewarded with a small trophy which will no doubt become invaluable to him.

The supper table was cented with lovely rose carnations a remembrance from Sgt. E. Lester, and a beautifully decorated wedding cake. After a delicious repast Mr. and Mrs. Lester were presented with a number of gifts, and all the guests agreed that Jack and Mrs. Lester really are "jolly good fellows."

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS OF THE TOWN AND DISTRICT

For the past ten days or so the weather has been marvelous. The snow has disappeared. At night eight or ten degrees of frost is registered and as the sun comes up summer like weather prevails.

Don't forget the Gleichen Junior Hockey Jub dance and rifle party Friday evening. They are offering many valuable prizes in merchandise to the holders of lucky tickets. So far the boys have had great success in selling their tickets and it is expected a big crowd will be on hand.

The death of the Duke of Connaught on Friday reminded all citizens of the town that the Duke was a visitor to Gleichen in 1912. One thing remarkable about his tour where ever he went he was loudly cheered but not so in Gleichen not a voice was raised but the men folks showed their respects in another manner, by raising their hats. The duke is rumored his hat to the town's people.

Mr. Walker has received word that Roy Sam James, an aviator in the Royal Air Force, is now located at Eden, which is located at the extreme southern end of the Red Sea. She has also received a letter from her son George who is a prisoner of war in Germany. George says he was

1942 WHEAT PRICE OE $122½ URGED BY LINE ELEVATORS

Higher City Income War-rant Fair Price For Wheat

Line Elevator companies have forwarded a submission to the Dominion government, asking for immediate payment of the Canadian wheat board on the 1942 wheat crop of $122½ per bushel. The board on the 1942 wheat crop of $122½ per bushel. The board on the 1942 wheat crop of $122½ per bushel.

The Line Elevators submission to the government contends that the present price of 70 cents per bushel is wholly inadequate to meet present wheat farming costs and that adequate reserves of wheat are equally as essential as are munitions of war and adds that "the government should be prepared to pay the farmer a reasonable price for producing wheat just as it pays necessary for the manufacture of munitions."

The memorandum points out that the urban dweller, with higher wages and cost of living, is better able to pay a fair price for the wheat required to make his bread than is the farmer able to produce wheat at less than the cost of production and busy making life for a sink and where the other price was going to play hockey. One of their star players is a well known Calgary player.

Mrs. A. R. Bates won a prize in the Toronto Star Weekly knitting contest in the season's stocking competition. The prize was a pair of good knitting. Mrs. Bates can also qualify in quantity as she has knitted 100 pairs of these heavy season's stockings.

Two councillors and two school trustees terms are due to run out. T. Brown and D. McDonald's term on the council is up although Mr. McDonald served less than a year filling the unexpired term of the late J. B. Wright. On the school board P. M. Warner and Wm. Ferguson term expires and with the resignation of J. Boyd who is now living in Calgary there will be three vacancies.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Hackney have again very kindly offered their home for the annual congregational meeting of St. Andrews church on Friday Jan. 23rd at 8 p.m. Members and all those interested in the welfare of the said church are invited to attend this very important meeting.

Reports of the various branches and the election of church officers will be submitted and take place respectively at this meeting.

BLAZING PARCEL ENDANGERS SOLDIERS MAIL

Notwithstanding the repeated warnings of the Canadian Post Office department against sending matches, lighter-fluid or any other inflammable substance through the mails, a fresh case of a parcel bursting into flames at the Base Post Office, Ottawa, has just been reported to Hon. WE ALWAYS APPRECIATE THEM

The other day we asked a man for his printing and he told us:

"Oh, our printing doesn't amount to much. All we have is a few small orders, and none of them ever run into anything that looks like money."

Those little orders are the kind that make our business.

Most of our business is in printing letterheads, envelopes, circulars, posters, office forms, and other small orders.

We appreciate a small order as well as we do a big one.

So, if you have any small orders for printing we want you to know that we are glad to get them. We appreciate them just as much—and take just as good care of them—as if they actually amounted to hundreds of dollars.

GRAFT AND GREED IN ITALY'S EMPIRE

When British troops marched into Addis Ababa and Mussolini's East African Empire crumbled to dust, they found a revealing document. It was a report written in April, 1940, by General Arconovaldo Bonasconi, Inspector General of Black Shirts, Italian East Africa, on the situation there.

For five years after the Italian conquest of Ethiopia, Italians poured money into their East African territories. Boastfully they declared that directed by industry, unity, national pride and the vigor of a modern state, Fascism would build in Africa a new Roman Empire. Italian genius for colonization would establish new standards for the world.

Ethiopia would be the wonder colony of the twentieth century. The Bonasconi report strips the mask. It tells a story of graft and corruption—of troops in rage while contractors made millions. "Let the truth be known," Bonasconi exclaims as he makes these direct charges.

"Our troops are in rage, barefooted, torn and naked, in such a lamentable state of absolute inferiority, compared with the Abyssinians that they are called the Mosquitos. (Word used for beggars in both East Africa and Egypt.)

"There are not sufficient reserve stocks in the army depots, no tents, no uniforms, no boots and nothing else that is required. Millions have been spent to build luxurious villas with modern style furniture, Persian carpets, silver cutlery and so forth for the heads of the government departments and vice-governors.

Bonasconi made these remarkable predictions:

"In the empire rebellion is latent and will have its tragic end when, in case of our frontiers a single British or French unit resolutely marches into our territory with its flag flying; it will not need armed men because the greater part of the Abyssinian people will join them to fight against us and turn us out. I do not know if we shall be able in case of emergency to face up to what may happen in view of the upturned and abandoned state of our army.

Whatever his other qualifications, Bonasconi was a good prophet. Twelve months later almost to a day, men from South Africa and men from British East Africa marched into the Ethiopian capital.

Bonasconi relates how, from his own observations, contractors at most to a man only thought of making money without excessive scruples at the expense of the state and the workmen. Workmen were not paid indemnities, allowances, rates and premiums due to them. Clothing to which they were entitled without payment and food were insufficient. Sleeping quarters were inadequate and unhygienic.

With a few exceptions in the case of farming land was almost untouched. No land office existed to ascertain what land was available for allotment to nationals who applied for it in order to develop it.

Such concessions as were granted had for the most part been given to state concerns or those controlled or financed by the state which cost the nation tens of millions of lire without attaining the ends in view. The Italian who applied for a small piece of land had to submit to an endless process of bureaucratic impositions, have the patience of a saint donated, and be stung by the realization that he had means, losing months and months.

On the other hand, contractors who went to Ethiopia without a penny having gone bankrupt in Italy, returned to Italy as millionaires several times over. Bonasconi cites the case of Marcello Diaz, controlling the Socitta Cotoni in the Tana-Juba district "who with the greatest ease and no risk of danger to himself is putting millions into his pocket at the expense of the Italian community. The cotton is cultivated by natives and the company pays for seed labor harvesting, packing transport interest on capital etc., from seven to eight lire a kilo. It is sold to the state at 8 lire a kilo while the difference is pocketed by the owners of the company."

"A certain Assechini," the report instances further, "who lives in Addis Ababa at the time when export of hides from the Empire to Italy was prohibited, in some way unknown managed to obtain an export license for several hundred tons. He made a profit of several millions."
